

Special Contingency Risks Limited receives Queen's Award for Enterprise

The Queen's Award for Enterprise has been made to Special Contingency Risks Limited (SCR), a member of the Willis Group Limited, specialising in the provision of kidnap, ransom and extortion risk management advice and insurance.

For 24 years SCR has been selling kidnap and extortion insurance policies to private and corporate clients. While initially the company concentrated on UK business, most policies are now sold overseas although 90 per cent of the business is written through Lloyd's and the London insurance market.

Receiving the Award from the Lord Mayor of the City of London, Alderman David Howard MA FSI. Doug Milne, managing director of Special Contingency risks said: "we are enormously proud that SCR have been given this award in recognition of our success in what is a highly specialised sector of the insurance market."

Willis Group limited, headquartered in London, is one of only three major risk management and insurance intermediaries that operate on a worldwide basis. The Group, together with its associates employs 12,500 people and is represented through a network of 235 offices in 73 countries. Willis develops and delivers professional insurance, reinsurance and risk management advice and solutions.
