Willis Launches Hurricane Katrina Recovery Information Website

New York, NY, September 20, 2005 – In a continuing effort to assist clients affected by Hurricane Katrina, Willis announces the creation of a website designed expressly to provide claims support and information resources specific to clients impacted by the hurricane.

In addition, the website (<http://us-team2.willis.com/katrinarecoveryinfo/default.aspx>) provides health and safety guidelines, addresses FEMA and indemnification issues, and environmental concerns. Clients can access the site for a list of Willis contacts as well as up-to-the-minute disaster relief announcements, and alternate links to important websites such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the US EPA Hurricane Katrina Response.

Expressing the Company's determination to provide the highest level of client support, Joe Plumeri, Chairman and CEO of Willis, said, "All of us at Willis, worldwide, lend our total professional and personal support to everyone affected by the devastating effects of Hurricane Katrina on the Gulf Coast region. We are particularly aware of the personal impact this storm has had on the people of this region and the creation of this website is one measure of our many efforts to lessen their burden by providing round-the-clock support to resolve their insurance claims and needs."

The Willis Hurricane Katrina Recovery Information Website is:
<http://us-team2.willis.com/katrinarecoveryinfo/default.aspx>.

Access is via an access code so contact with Willis representatives will be needed to access the information on the site.
