

Richard Hawkinberry
Senior Vice President

Rick Hawkinberry is a Senior Vice President and National Resource for Willis' North American Environmental Practice in Pittsburgh. He leads our Environmental Service Firm Industry Initiative and coordinates other sales initiatives in the Environmental Practice, providing support to our regional teams on complex environmental insurance placements and support for large environmental service firm accounts.

His engineering background and experience in risk management and the insurance industry afford him the expertise to address the environmental risks our clients encounter as part of their business operations.

Before joining the Willis Environmental Practice, Rick was Risk Manager for Shaw Environmental & Infrastructure, Inc., a role that involved the management of complex international and domestic insurance programs and the procurement of environmental insurance policies for both private and federal environmental liability transfer deals. Prior to Shaw, Rick was with AIG Environmental, where among other functions, he played a key role in developing their mine reclamation insurance program. Earlier in his career, Rick held positions as a Territory Manager, responsible for underwriting and marketing, with Kemper Environmental and CIGNA/ACE USA in the Global Power and Energy Property group.

Rick also has more than 10 years of experience as a Certified Safety Professional in the oil industry. He holds a BS in Safety Engineering from Fairmont State College.
